

Item	Points Available	Points Received	Comments
1 Introduction <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Purpose of the document is clear • Intended readership and why the document is relevant to each group is specified • An overview of the document's contents is given • References are formatted according to APA standards (see Writing Resources on Blackboard) 	10
2 System Architecture <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Logical architecture diagram is clear, complete, and sufficiently supported by the corresponding text. Pending decisions, if any, are enumerated. • Technology architecture diagram is clear, complete, and sufficiently supported by the corresponding text. Pending decisions, if any, are enumerated. • Decomposition diagram(s) is clear, complete, and sufficiently supported by the corresponding text. Pending decisions, if any, are enumerated. • It is clear how the decomposition diagram(s) relates to the system's logical architecture. • Class diagrams use the notation specified in the UML Class Diagrams attachment to the SDD template. 	20
3 Persistent Data Design <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Database or file diagram(s) is clear and contains each field's name, data type, size, and description • The relationships between tables or files is diagrammed • The diagram(s) is sufficiently supported by the corresponding text. 	20
4 Requirements Matrix <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Each use case from the SRS is listed along with all software components that will implement it. 	10
Appendices A, B, & C, title page, table of contents <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Each appendix is clear, concise, and contains all information specified in the SDD template • All signatures are present and each is dated • Title page contains: document title, date, version number, product name, team name, team members' names, and customer name • Table of contents contains all information specified in the SDD template 	10
Writing style, grammar, and formatting <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Writing style is clear and concise • All sections contain a brief introduction • Figures and tables are both numbered and labeled • Spelling, capitalization, and grammar are correct according to the Writing Resources given on Blackboard. - Document is neatly formatted, using appropriate fonts, margins, and spacing. 	10
Total:	80
			The document was late
			The corresponding draft was late
Final Total:			